Final Project Proposal

For my final project I'd like to create a one page website called Alphabites. Alphabites combines two things people love - writing in small bits of text and food. A user coming to Alphabites sees only one input field, a submit button, and a blank box underneath with a share option for that blank box. Typing into the input field and hitting submit turns the users string of characters into food icons and packages the icons into a square format (that blank box) ready to ship to Instagram.

Each letter, upper and lowercase, will have a coorisponding food icon which will show up in place of the character the user typed in the iput field. This will create endless strings of fun icons and patterns!

HTML, CSS, and JS will all be used to create Alphabites. Exporting the users icon sentence will require use of the Instagram API.
